Attend the Musical Festival, Nov. 2-3-4

The biggest musical event in the history of Southern Alberta awaits you when the 12th annual Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival gets under way in the Columbus hall, Blaimore, at 9 o'clock next Monday morning, November 2nd, and continues with three programmes daily at 9 a.m., 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 2nd, 3rd and 4th. More than 1000 competing, with contestants from all points between Medicine Hat and Calgary to the east and Kimberley and Cranbrook to the west, and numerous four brass bands, two senior and two junior orchestras, choral society, ladies' and church choirs, school choruses, vocal, piano, violin, ensembles, trios, quartets and innumerable open solo classes by talented singers. Truly the biggest feast of music ever held in Southern Alberta. Mr. Vernon Barford, of Edmonton, Alberta, is the adjudicator.

THOMAS SMITH PASSES

Thomas Smith, for many years resident of Blaimore and Bellevue, passed away rather suddenly in an Edmonton hospital yesterday, following a brief illness. The remains are being brought back to Bellevue and interment will take place in the Blaimore cemetery on Sunday following service at the Crows' Nest Funeral Home at 2 p.m.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife, four daughters and one son. Two of the daughters, Mrs. J. McAndrew and Mrs. Ed. Wemmersley, reside in Blaimore; the youngest daughter at Michel, while Mrs. Smith and small son reside in Bellevue. A brother, Harry, formerly of Coleman, resides at Drumheller.

Mr. Smith was in his fifty-eight year.

THE MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Preparations are being made locally for the accommodation of the great mass of people who will visit Blaimore during the first three days of next week to take part in or attend the twelfth Annual Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival, opening on Monday morning at nine with Mr. Vernon Barford as adjudicator.

Judging from the 276 or more entries, it is given as a conservative estimate that at least 1000 persons will enter the competitions. In addition, in all likelihood at least four hundred persons will accompany those from outside points, which include Calgary to the north, Medicine Hat to the east, Waterton Lakes to the south and Creston to the west. The major programme of the festival will be on Wednesday afternoon and evening, when no less than four brass bands, together with choral societies and winners of major events, will assist in the programme.

Hotels in The Pass towns will undoubtedly be taxed to capacity, and in fact are pretty well booked to that point as we go to press.

Mr. J. E. Upton is this season's president, while Mrs. J. H. Farmer is secretary, and a busy one at that.

It is hoped that the public, and particularly the music loving public of The Pass will show their interest by attending all sessions, morning, afternoon and night.

Remember the place, the Columbus hall, Blaimore.

Mrs. Hilary Barrett Miffin, eldest daughter of Editor and Mrs. A. L. Barrett, of The Western Star, Newfoundland, passed away on October 18th at her home Port Union, Newfoundland, aged 30 years.

By virtue of C.P.R. transfers of superintendents, J. L. Palethorpe, of Edmonton, takes over the superintendency of the Medicine Hat division. J. Ivan MacKay, of Calgary, takes over the Edmonton division, and Supt. George J. Fox, of Medicine Hat, assumes the superintendency of the Calgary division. All these transfers are to become effective November 1st.

ATHABASCA SOCIAL CREDIT OPPOSED NEWSPAPER LICENSE

EDMONTON, Oct. 26.—Licensing of Alberta newspapers as threatened by Premier Aberhart on many occasions was not supported by a majority of Social Crediters at the Athabasca constituency Social Credit convention at Colinton last week.

A resolution urging that newspapers of the province be licensed, was defeated by delegates to the convention, although a vote of confidence in the premier was passed. Report of dividend registrations revealed that 84 per cent of the constituency's voters had signed covenants. This represented 740 more than voted for Social Credit in the 1935 provincial election.

SAFEGUARDING THE PUBLIC HEALTH

Thousands of deaths, which used to occur each year due to typhoid fever as a result of drinking impure water, have now been saved through the chemical purification of public water supplies. Chlorine is the chemical used to kill the bacteria, while other chemicals are used to collect the impure, floating particles which often discolor water and to render it clear and pure.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slater, of Crows' Nest, at the St. Eugene hospital at Cranbrook on October 15th.

We are asked by Mrs. Farmer, secretary of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival, to state that the Greyhound Bus Line are offering a rate of fare and a third for the festival, good three days before to three days after festival. Up to the present, the C.P.R. are not offering special fares for the festival.

Word has been received that E. T. Fitzsimmons, of Calgary, is a patient in the Royal Alexandra hospital at Edmonton, suffering from the effects of a stroke that laid him off from business activities several months ago. Mr. Fitzsimmons was well known in this territory, having for quite a number of years been engaged in coal mining at Passburg, Burnis and other points. Of late years he has been actively interested in gold and silver mining in the Caribou and other sections of British Columbia.

"ZIEGFELD" IS GREATEST SHOW EVER SCREENED

In "The Great Ziegfeld," playing at Cole's theatre Bellevue, Sunday midnight preview and next week, motion pictures have picked up the torch where the late Florenz Ziegfeld laid it down and have succeeded in out-Ziegfelding the great Ziegfeld himself.

"The Great Ziegfeld" has everything that a great musical picture should have. It is, in the life of Ziegfeld, a most gripping and perfect dramatic story. In its musical numbers, never before produced on such a scale of grandeur, it has many of the most dazzling scenes ever seen in pictures.

In entertainment alone it rates just about 1000 per cent. First, there are William Powell as Ziegfeld, Myrna Loy at Billie Burke and Luise Rainer as Anna Held.

Then there are Virginia Bruce as Ziegfeld's greatest glorified American girl, Frank Morgan as his rival producer, Nat Pendleton as Sandow, Reginald Owen as Ziggy's manager, Fannie Brice as herself, Ray Bolger and his amazing dancing feet, Harriet Hector, and hordes of the most beautiful girls ever to smile at you from the screen.

The story opens in Ziegfeld's youth in the dazzling Chicago World's Fair of 1893. It progresses as Ziegfeld himself progressed, massing fortunes, to lose them and build other fortunes. But always in the foreground are the spectacular Ziegfeld productions and his amazingly beautiful showgirls.

The dance numbers never before have been equalled. The direction of Robert Z. Leonard places him among the kings of directors and the photography by Ollie Marsh and George Folsey is a pictorial masterpiece.

The regular meeting of Crows' Nest Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held in the Anglican hall on Monday evening next at 7.30. All members are urged to be present, as important business will be discussed.

Minor damage was done to the undercarriage of the large Lockheed-Electra monoplane of Canadian Airways Limited when it landed at the Sentinel airport about noon on Tuesday. The machine was in charge of Air-Commander H. Hollick-Kenyon, and none of the passengers were injured.

NIGHT CLASSES IN MINING

A meeting will be held in the general office of the West Canadian Collieries, Ltd., on this Friday evening, October 30, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of forming Night Classes in Mining and Mining Mathematics.

All those interested are asked to attend this meeting, as the classes will be started at once.

These classes are run under the supervision of the Blaimore School Board.

DYNAMITE CITY

A city which will eventually house over 5000 persons and will have two churches, two schools, two hospitals, shops, stores, theatres and garages, as well as a $12,000,000 newspaper development, is being blasted out of the virgin forest and rock on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River at Baie Comeau, 200 miles below Quebec City, according to a story entitled "Dynamite City" which appears in the October issue of "The C-I-L Oval".

W. Martin, credit manager of Western Grocers Ltd., was in The Pass from Lethbridge during Tuesday and Wednesday.

Blaimore United church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday, October 17th, when Miss Pauline Kliss and Mr. Frank Vincent, both of Coleman, were united in marriage by Rev. A. E. Lark. They have taken up residence in Coleman.

Several carloads of people from Blaimore attended the illustrated lecture given in Lethbridge this week by Rev. Denzil G. Rideout, F.R.G.S., of Toronto, well known traveller and editor. In his work as editor of the United Church Record and Missionary Review, Mr. Rideout has travelled widely and taken many striking photographs of people and scenes. A year ago he visited Africa. His journey took him down the west coast of equatorial Africa and into the interior. From there he returned to Egypt by aeroplane. Since returning to Canada he has been in constant demand for the presentation of his lectures.

I.O.D.E. TO HOLD ANNUAL ARMISTICE DANCE

Bills are out announcing the grand annual dance to be held in the Columbus hall, Blaimore, on the night of Wednesday, November the 11th, under auspices of Crows' Nest Chapter, I.O.D.E.

This event is one of the big affairs of the year, and has always drawn a huge crowd. This year's dance promises to break the record for attendance. The Arcadians will furnish dance music—up-to-the-minute peppy stuff that will just revive you for real merriment. Novelties, hats, balloons, noisemakers, etc., will be in evidence galore.

Remember, when you patronize this ball, you are helping a right worthy cause.

P. R. Miquelon, of Calgary, Dominion organizer for the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland, is at present in the Maritimes. He hopes to establish 25 to 30 new lodges and opened a lodge at Sydney last week with a charter membership of 60.

Selecting Municipal Representation

With the near approach of the annual municipal elections in urban centres and rural districts throughout the prairie provinces, the time has arrived when citizens might well devote some serious thought to the type of men (or women) who should represent them in the local councils during the coming year.

While at all times the question of the quality of representation on municipal councils is one of considerable importance, this year it is one of much magnitude, partly on account of the difficulties of local government occasioned by problems arising out of the depression and partly because of the restlessness of the changing times and changing viewpoints, particularly on social and economic problems.

From small but vociferous minorities one hears of suggestions and plans for changes which, if put into effect, might constitute a threat to the continued existence of democratic government in this country and there is always a danger, under a democratic form of government, of minority groups imposing their will on the majority, if the majority are apathetic about the conduct of their own affairs.

For this reason, if for no other, it is highly important that the citizens of this country take an active and intelligent interest in their own business—the business of government, whether it be in the local councils, the provincial legislature or the wider Federal arena.

It is unfortunately the case that sometimes municipal election issues are decided by a comparatively small percentage of the electorate because so many refrain from going to the polls to express their desire through the ballot. If this results in the election of representatives unrepresentative to the majority and the imposition of policies inimical to their interests those who refrain from casting their ballots on election day have no "come-back" and deserve none.

To many it may seem that local affairs are of little importance. They appear trivial when matched with provincial issues or Federal policies and this misapprehension sometimes leads to an attitude of nonchalance on the part of a section of the electorate.

On the contrary, however, it should be remembered that despite the fact that local municipal units are the creation and, therefore, the creatures of a superior government, nevertheless local self-government is the bulwark of the people and of all government, and with the extension of activities and authority imposed upon municipal councils in recent years is becoming increasingly so.

Not only that, but in many matters closely affecting the lives and welfare of the citizens of the country, the major governments have adopted the custom of seeking the advice and assistance of local municipal representatives in an increasingly large measure. They regard them, properly, as the mouthpiece of the district they serve and more often than not defer to their wishes.

For this reason, as well as the necessity of having men capable of administering local affairs wisely, it is highly important that the municipal electors use care and sound judgment in selecting the men who are to represent them in the councils, that all the electors participate in the function of casting the ballot and that once having made their selection the electors support their representatives as long as they prove worthy of the high trust imposed in them.

If the great majority of the electors take these duties seriously, less will be heard of trivial matters being injected into municipal election campaigns and municipal council debates and there is less likelihood that elected representatives will listen to insistent demands of organized minorities or individuals who seek concessions or make proposals adverse to the interests of the great rank and file of the electorate.

One sometimes finds it stated that it is difficult or impossible to induce the best-fitted to accept nomination for public office. If that is so, it must largely be the fault of the percentage of the electorate who decline to take an active interest in their own affairs, both in the matter of selecting candidates and in giving them hearty support in devising and carrying out measures and policies for the benefit of the community as a whole.

Such comments are not, of course, applicable to all municipalities, and perhaps not even to a majority of them. In many cities, towns, villages and rural municipalities in the three prairie provinces, the electorate demonstrates a highly intelligent and active interest in its own affairs, and as a result their business is conducted wisely and well by capable men and men of integrity who justly command a respect and confidence which is not confined to the communities they serve.

Dog Solves Crimes

Does Valuable Work in Connection With Duties of Mounted Police. "Dale," a big black and tan with a keen nose and a marked devotion to duty, is now a valued member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police establishment at Calgary.

Dale is a dog who has done such remarkable work in solving a number of crimes in the Calgary district that he has won honorable mention in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police annual report, just off the press. It takes a full page in the report to describe the dog's exploits. Here are a few of the cases in which Dale distinguished himself:

Eileen Simpson, two and a half years old, wandered away from her home. A search party failed to find her. Dale was called in and did.

Under difficult conditions Dale helped police in connection with the murder of Sergeant T. S. Wallace and Constable G. C. Harrison by Joe Poonikoff, Peter Wolken and John Kalmakoff, who were killed themselves in gun battles with the police.

Dale traced a demented man who caused an explosion in a farmer's house from a gasoline saturated suit of underwear found at the cellar door. The same farmer had lost two rolls of wire netting. Dale was taken to the place from which the netting was removed. He picked up the scent, found the wire and led to the arrest and conviction of the thief.

But Dale is ornamental as well as useful. He took first prize in his class at the Calgary dog show.

Supplies Reach Coppermine

Hudson's Bay Boat Gets Through The Ice After Difficulties

Relieving anxiety which has lasted for months, supplies have finally reached Coppermine, principal base in the Central Arctic, according to reports reaching Edmonton. Blocked for weeks by huge ice floes in the Arctic the schooner Audrey B., under charter to the Hudson's Bay Company, carrying supplies to the trading posts, has finally made its way through the ice of Corohation Gulf, reached Coppermine and now lies frozen in at that point.

Owners of the schooner, Jack Lickert, Bill Storr, Art Watson and "Slim" Purnell have sent word of their safe passage and a radio telegraph message to this effect has reached Edmonton.

The other Hudson's Bay supply ship made Coppermine safely on October 6. Aboard her was Ray Ross, company post manager of Reid Island, and his bride, the former Miss Lillian Smith of Edmonton.

No Campaign Speeches

Alaskan Woman Is Elected By Visiting Voters By Aeroplane

Alaskan first woman legislator, Flying Nell Scott, was elected without making a single campaign speech. The Selkirk woman's aerial campaign ignored both political practice and traditions of feminine talkativeness. She let her masculine opponents have the first and last word, while she took the votes. She covered the district in an aeroplane, having heart to heart talks with individual voters and key persons in organizations. Her platform was based on popular Alaskan issues: Abolition of fish traps; enactment of social security legislation; financial aid to prospectors; substantial bounties on predatory animals, and more and better aeroplane landing fields.

U.S. Naval Strength

America's Naval Fighting Power

Has Been Disclosed That America's naval fighting power had been reduced since July 1 while other major nations were increasing theirs.

The figures, made public by the navy department, showed the United States, chiefly by scrapping old warships in accordance with provisions of the soon-to-expire London treaty, had cut its naval strength from 324 ships of 1,080,715 tons to 306 ships aggregating 1,062,875 tons.

Streamlined steam locomotives constructed for an eastern railroad have fins around their smokestacks to deflect the smoke upward to give the engineers the best visibility at all times.

The music of "America" also is the music of the national anthem of the British Empire, Denmark and Switzerland.

Sydney, Australia, will spend $3,500,000 on the city railway. An Englishman invented matches 100 years ago.

Letter Of Thanks

Mayor Of French City Vouches Gratitude For Gifts From Canada

The pilgrimages of Canadian ex-servicemen and their dependents to Vimy Ridge during the summer was recalled by receipt of a letter of thanks from Mayor Milot, of Valenciennes, to Lieut.-Col. J. S. Rankin, D.S.O., former commanding officer of the 45th (South Saskatchewan) battalion.

The letter, voiced the gratitude of the city for the vellum-bound copy of the operation order covering the attack on Valenciennes on November 1, 1918, in which affair the late Sergeant Hugh Cairns of the battalion, won the Victoria Cross.

The day prior to the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial on Vimy Ridge the city of Valenciennes dedicated a street to the memory of Hugh Cairns, and in the course of the ceremony Major G. H. Gilbert, M.C., Yorkton, Sask., on behalf of the 46th Battalion, presented to Mayor Milot the copy of the operation order.

In his letter the mayor said this document was now translated into French, and had been placed in the municipal library "in order that the citizens of Valenciennes might know to whom they are indebted for their deliverance."

Substitute For Gasoline

Amateur Chemist Says Invention Will Benefit The World

An obscure Pittsburgh inventor and interior decorator, who likes to dabble in chemistry on the side, claims to have hit upon a secret formula from what he asserts he has developed a substitute for gasoline.

He believes his discovery, which has not yet been put on the market, or been protected by patents, will "revolutionize the gasoline industry."

The amateur chemist is Frederick J. Hoyer, and, as one example of the manner in which his "gas substitute" will benefit the world, says general use of his "gas" would greatly reduce, if not erase entirely, deaths from monoxide fume poisoning.

In a recent demonstration of his discovery, Hoyer, accompanied by his attorney, A. F. Burkhardt, and a reporter drove a car with standard equipment fourteen and one-half miles on a gallon of ordinary gasoline, and one-tenth of a mile more on a gallon or what he said was his "gasoline substitute."

At the completion of the last demonstration, Burkhardt declared: "Well, as far as we are concerned, this new fuel is perfected."

SELECTED RECIPES

FRUIT OATMEAL COOKIES

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
¾ cup butter
2 eggs
½ cup currants
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup Purity Flour
3 cups oatmeal.

½ cup stoned dates, cut finely
Method: 1. Cream butter, add sugar. 2. Add well beaten eggs, dates and currants. 3. Sift flour with soda and add to Mixture No. 2. 4. Lastly, add oatmeal; stir well. 5. Form into loaves, set in cool place, let stand overnight; then slice thinly and bake in slow oven of 300 degrees for 15 minutes.

Drouth Danger

Little mentioned among the drouth hazards to cattle is the possibility of the animals eating the hearty Sudan grass, cane or any kind of grain sorghum which, although stunted in growth by the dry weather, will stay green long after the normal feed grasses have withered. The Department of Agriculture reports that in eating these plants live stock may consume a deadly dose of hydrocyanic or prussic acid, present in the plants.

Argentina has greatly increased in peanut production this year.

A Precious Relic

Interesting History Of Coronation Chair At Westminster Abbey

While the work of preparing Westminster Abbey for the coronation next May is proceeding, one important relic at the Abbey will undergo no renovation, the Coronation Chair, according to a writer in the Manchester Guardian.

Except for dusting it requires nothing done to it, and it would not stand much. The famous stone of Scone—and it had a history in Ireland before it was taken to Scone—has a wide crack which all but rent its solid mass asunder, and iron rings encumbers the chair. It is not only age which has caused the wear and tear. Though every monarch since Edward I. has been crowned on it, the use it has undergone on those occasions has been negligible.

For a long period of its history it was very poorly looked after. Nearly everybody, it seems, was allowed to sit in it by permission of the attendants, or else did so on the sly. An inscription on it, "Peter Abbott slept in this chair, July 5th, 1800," is illuminating. Peter Abbott went into the Abbey at night for a bet that he would carve his name on Purcell's monument. He did not succeed in doing that, but he had no difficulty on the Coronation Chair. The surface of the chair is a mass of scratches made by visitors who wanted to leave their mark on it, and there must have been a time when every Westminster schoolboy deemed it a disgrace if he left school without carving his name on the Abbey's most precious relic.

Amazing Fast Flight

Birds Fly From Florida To Alaska In A Month

Among the most amazing instances of the speed with which some species of birds accomplish their migratory flights, cited by Frederick C. Lincoln of the bureau of biological survey in his pamphlet, "The Migration of North American Birds," is that of the gray-checkered thrush.

"This bird," Lincoln says, "winters in Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela and British Guiana and does not start its northward journey until many other species are well on their way. It does not appear in the United States until the last of April—April 25, near the mouth of the Mississippi, and April 30 in northern Florida.

A month later, or by the last week in May, the bird is seen in northwestern Alaska, the 4,000-mile trip from Louisiana having been made at an average speed of about 130 miles a day."

Berlin's percentage of police is 2.4 per thousand of population, while that of England is 5.05, and France, 3.18.

In Asia, the land of extremes, Mount Everest is 29,000 feet high, while the Dead Sea is about 1292 feet below sea level.

For Amazingly Quick Relief Get "ASPIRIN"

If you suffer from pains of neuritis what you want is quick relief. "Aspirin" tablets give quick relief for one reason, because they dissolve or disintegrate almost instantly they touch moisture. (Note illustration above.)

Hence—when you take an "Aspirin" tablet, it starts to dissolve almost instantly. . . . headaches, neuritis and neuritis pains start easing almost at once.

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Try it. You'll say it's marvelous.

School Teacher Far North

Girl Took Isolated Post When Lonely Man Gave Up

Lone white girl on the northern shore-line of Lake Athabasca, north of Goldfields, Sask., Miss Helen Barr prefers the dog sled to the newest models in streamlined automobiles. She is the school teacher at Cannery Bay, isolated fishing settlement across the bay from the gold town. Miss Barr came north from her home in Imperial, central Saskatchewan, to teach school at Port Chipewyan. When the male teacher resigned at Cannery Bay, because the post was too lonely, she accepted the position. Her pupils range from 5 to 20 years of age.

MAKES APPEAL FOR SUPPORT OF WELFARE DRIVE

Ottawa.—As a curb to ill-directed individual charity, which "may be ill-informed, and therefore ineffective and sometimes mischievous," the Federal Welfare Services of Canada serve to "pool the goodwill of the citizens," the governor-general said here in an appeal for public support of the charitable campaign now in progress.

"This co-operation, meant economy in working expenses and a wise strategy in direction," Lord Tweedsmuir said.

"This 'mass attack' on the benevolence of the citizens was something unknown in the United Kingdom, but His Excellency thought it might profitably be initiated. It organized and directed into proper channels the forces of private philanthropy, with the happiest results.

"We have been living through years of storm. I believe the skies are clearing and the storm abating; but it has left uneasy waters behind it and a great deal of salvage work before the nation," Lord Tweedsmuir said.

"There are many individuals and families who have fallen below the standard of civilized life. There is much sheer physical distress to be relieved. More important still, we have to face the moral effect of years of continued unemployment. Household goods have been scattered, family life has been dislocated, men and women haunted by economic insecurity, have begun to lose their nerve, and look out upon the world with hopeless eyes. We have not only to succor the body but to revive the spirit."

Much of this task must fall upon the state and to its performance every taxpayer contributed. But the matter could not end there. The state today had greatly enlarged its area of duty.

"But that is not enough. There will always remain a big margin which no government can reach and which must be left to private benevolence," His Excellency said.

He had long been engaged in similar work at home and when he surveyed the Canadian situation he found many grounds for encouragement. Canada had great urban centers, with their poverty-stricken areas, but nothing like the swollen and almost unmanageable conglomerations of population obtaining in Britain.

"But to balance this advantage we have our great distances, our sparsely-peopled areas, which make the task of relief difficult, and where loneliness may be added to other privations," said Lord Tweedsmuir.

"Yet I cannot but feel that in Canada the task before us is in a special sense a repaying task."

"We are working on fine stuff. I have just returned from a long tour in the west, during which I have visited some of the worst of the drought areas. I saw very many impoverished homes; but if there was poverty of means there was no poverty of spirit. These people are facing difficulties as great as, perhaps greater than, those of the old pioneers, with the true pioneer fortitude. That is one instance; I could give others from different areas. We have a greater spirit in our nation to conserve, and where it has been weakened, to fortify. We are building with sound materials on deep foundations."

Radium Monopoly

Canada May Soon Be In Position To Supply The World

Ottawa.—Canada may soon enjoy a monopoly in supplying the world's radium needs Dr. G. C. Laurence told the Engineering Institute of Canada at a luncheon here.

Dr. Laurence said with each successive find of radium in the past the new field had obtained a monopoly on the world trade. First it was Czechoslovakia, then Colorado and then the Belgian Congo which held the monopoly, the latter country obtaining it 1929-30.

Now the Canadian product, produced from ore at Great Bear Lake, had successfully challenged the Belgian monopoly and had brought down the price. If history repeated itself Canada would gain the monopoly.

Want Paper Banned

Toronto.—A Toronto Branch of the Canadian Legion, complaining a recent issue of a New York Sunday paper touching on the private life of the king was "deplorable and distasteful," passed a resolution asking the newspaper to be banned in Canada.

Importance Of Mining

Is Playing Important Role In Bringing Back Recovery

Ottawa.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines and resources, is enthusiastic over the growing importance of mining in Canada's industrial picture. Just returned from a trip through western Canada and visits to many mining areas, Mr. Crerar said mining was playing an important role in bringing about economic recovery in Canada.

The minister said he visited the Central Patricia and Red Lake districts in northwestern Ontario, and the Bridge River and Trail areas in British Columbia. Much of his traveling was done by aeroplane.

One of the greatest needs of the mining area was cheaper transportation, he said. Many enterprises were being carried on under the handicap of heavy transportation costs and greater progress could be made if cheaper transportation were available.

Canada's gold production this year would be close to $135,000,000, Mr. Crerar said, and the significance of this for the general economic position could be appreciated when it was recalled that in 1929 the country's gold production, equated at the present price, was only about one-third of this figure.

Russia Fears War

Spanish Trouble Has Created Dangerous Situation In Europe

Moscow.—Russia is ready to quit the Spanish non-intervention pact and sent warplanes to the Madrid government, authoritative sources said.

With the insurgents striking ever closer to Madrid, these sources said, the Kremlin feels it must send munitions and planes as the only way to prevent establishment of another Rightist dictatorship similar to those in Italy and Germany.

Highest officials were agreed recent developments growing out of the Spanish war have created "the gravest days" in Europe in two decades.

Dictator Josef Stalin, informed persons said, is convinced Europe is nearing the abyss of another war, and Russia must make her influence felt immediately and in the strongest and most unmistakable terms.

The Potential West

Says Western Canada One Of The Richest Countries In The World

Montreal.—European nations and the United States are becoming "more and more aware that western Canada is potentially one of the richest countries in the world," Rev. A. J. Vining of Toronto told the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec.

"New and unusually important opportunities for economic expansion exist in vast and rich northern sections of the three Canadian prairie provinces," the secretary of the western mission board declared.

His report stated new development already went forward and 52,000 acres of valuable agricultural territory would be available for cultivation.

Goods For Wheat

Co-operative Directors From Glasgow Come To Edmonton

Edmonton.—Exchange of goods for Alberta wheat on a barter system was provided by the society, the Co-operative directors from Glasgow were interviewed on their arrival from Saskatoon on an annual Canadian tour.

Dr. Laurence said with each successive find of radium in the past the new field had obtained a monopoly on the world trade. First it was Czechoslovakia, then Colorado and then the Belgian Congo which held the monopoly, the latter country obtaining it 1929-30.

Now the Canadian product, produced from ore at Great Bear Lake, had successfully challenged the Belgian monopoly and had brought down the price. If history repeated itself Canada would gain the monopoly.

Snowstorm In Colorado

Three Motorists Lose Lives In Accidents Attributed To Storm

Denver, Colo.—Three motorists lost their lives in automobile accidents attributed to a snowstorm which swept over most of Colorado and Wyoming.

Mary Steadwell, 40, author and social director at the University of Colorado, was killed in an automobile collision in a blinding snowstorm at Denver.

Two men died of injuries suffered when their car overturned near Trinidad, Colo. They were C. R. Garton, 42, Elkhart, Kas. and Bonifacio Vigil, Weston, Colo.

Heavy Sentence

150 Years Imprisonment For Fifteen-Year-Old Youth

Chicago.—Fifteen-year-old Roland Munroe, Jr., was convicted of beating an elderly crippled woman to death with her own cane and heard his punishment fixed by a criminal court jury at 150 years imprisonment.

Deliberating slightly more than three hours, the jurors disregarded the defence contention that young Munroe, an effeminate mannered high school student going to curling his red hair and spraying himself with perfume, was insane by reason of his abnormal tendencies.

ITALO-GERMAN YOUTH TO RESIST BOLSHEVISM

Berlin.—A new move toward welding Italo-German youth into a bulwark of European resistance against Bolshevism was announced by Balduin von Schirach, German leader of youth, in the presence of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and 20,000 Hitler youths and girls.

An institute for Italo-German youth leadership will be founded in Rome and Berlin, he declared at a gigantic rally in the Sports palace, for the exchange of youth leaders between the two countries.

The idea of the exchange, he said, will be to familiarize young people in each country with cultural, economic and political conditions and achievements of the other as well as further cementing friendly relations between the two countries.

Rome.—Italy and Germany will recognize the insurgent government of Spain almost immediately after the Fascist armies occupy Madrid, well informed sources said.

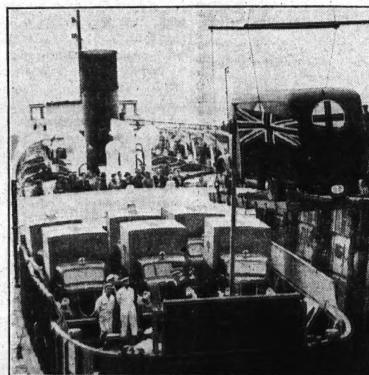

Agreement on this policy was said to be one of four important issues on which the nations reached accord after first conversations of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, with Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Germany's foreign minister, in Berlin.

Authoritative sources said Germany had agreed not to return to Geneva unless the League of Nations was reorganized on lines of the Italian plan for a directorate of the great powers.

Germany and Italy both, the report said, want a new Locarno treaty based on the old pact and both reject the British idea of two treaties—one for northern Europe and one for the south.

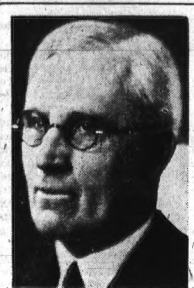

Rome and Berlin were reported to have agreed to divide the Danubian regions into zones of commercial influence.

SCOTTISH AMBULANCES EN ROUTE FOR SPAIN

Our picture shows a Scottish Ambulance Unit of seven cars and a personnel of 20, embarking at Dover for Calais, on the way to Spain. This is likely the unit which the Spanish Government charges was bombed in broad daylight on Oct. 4 by the insurgent forces.

F. C. BLAIR

By a re-organization of four Government Departments at Ottawa there has been created a new Department of Mines and Natural Resources. It will be divided into five units with a director in immediate charge of each unit. Mr. F. C. Blair (above) now Assistant Deputy Minister of Immigration, will be Director of the Immigration unit.

Stranded In Sub-Arctic

Crew Of Motorship On Great Slave Lake Must Wait For Freeze-Up

Fort Resolution, N.W.T.—Captives of the sub-Arctic, 24 men aboard the motorship Silver Queen, ice-locked on Great Slave lake, prepared to spend several weeks of enforced imprisonment on the boat waiting for the northland freeze-up. Fort Resolution is about 675 air miles north of Edmonton.

Departure for Edmonton of two aeroplane pilots who had been poised at Fort Smith, N.W.T., ready to take the crew from the Silver Queen indicated hoped-for favorable weather was not expected and Capt. H. L. Sacret and his men would have to stay on the boat until after the freeze-up, probably about Nov. 21.

Court Mourning Over

London Society Hostesses Preparing For Autumn Festivities

London.—Royal court mourning for the late King George ended with society hostesses busily preparing for an autumn whirl of festivities heralded as the most brilliant in many years.

For the first time since King George died members of the royal family will now be able to attend theatre, receptions and balls.

Both King Edward and the Duke of York have many engagements to fulfill in the coming weeks. But in the middle of November His Majesty will slip away from London and talk with his poorer subjects in the hard-hitting mining towns of Wales.

Cargo Of Foodstuffs

Russian Ship Sails From Leningrad To Spain With Supplies

Moscow.—The first Russian ship to carry supplies from Leningrad to Spain sailed with what was announced as a cargo of foodstuffs for victims of the Spanish civil war.

It was officially stated the steamship Turkish, which normally plies between London, Hamburg and Leningrad, left with 3,000 tons of flour, 1,000 tons of sugar, 800 tons of codfish, 500 tons of candles, 200,000 boxes of canned foods and 10,000 boxes of clothing.

These goods, it was stated, were all purchased by subscriptions from Russian workers.

Grant For Alberta

Federal Advance For Relief Purposes In Drouth Areas

Edmonton.—Federal grant of $1,800,000 has been made to cover the Dominion expenditures for feed and free freight to give relief to the drought area in Alberta until March 31 next. It was announced here by John Vallance, chairman of the committee named to administer the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act. He conferred with provincial government officials. No figures were available on direct relief which the Dominion also has undertaken.

Mr. Vallance was here with M. Mann of Regina, technical agriculturalist for the committee, who has been loaned to supervise the federal relief for the drought areas in the three prairie provinces. In visiting various points Mr. Vallance is giving his assistance and advice to Mr. Mann.

No Money Is Used

Cow And Shirt Exchanged For Insurance Policy

Wingham, Ont.—Barter has gained a niche in the insurance business, according to a report here, but it took a gaudy, red-broadcloth shirt worn by the insurance agent to clinch the deal.

The agent, in his preliminary conversations with a Wingham farmer, agreed to take a cow in exchange for a policy. When the agent arrived with a truck to get the cow, his brightly-colored shirt caught the eye of the farmer and before the latter agreed to sign on the dotted line, he persuaded the agent to include the shirt in the deal.

Early Wheat Shipment

Sixty Years Ago First Consignment Of Wheat Left Western Canada

Winnipeg.—Sixty years ago, the first shipment of wheat from western Canada left Winnipeg.

To commemorate the occasion, Richard Speer, 72, who as a lad of 12 sat on a load of wheat being hauled here to make up the initial shipment, was presented with a walking stick by the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Trading in the big pit was stilled as President W. J. Dowler made the presentation to mark the jubilee. The first shipment was of 957 1-6 bushels, purchased from the Red River valley farmers at 85 cents a bushel.

DEFENCE PLANS FOR CANADA ARE COMPREHENSIVE

Ottawa.—High up on the cabinet's agenda when Prime Minister Mackenzie King returns from Geneva are expected to be national defence plans. Comprehensive proposals for extension of the defence set-up will be submitted by the government at the next session of parliament, it is believed.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of national defence, doubtless will have definite plans suggested ready to lay before his cabinet colleagues.

While heads of the three forces—naval, military and air—naturally are not going to announce details of plans they have worked out, military experts have recently taken the view Canada should provide reasonable adequate defence against any enemy except the United States at a cost she could afford. It will be for the cabinet to decide to what extent the plans will be carried out.

In view of the great distances an enemy would have to travel to attack either the Pacific or Atlantic coasts, an air force would be suggested that would be numerically strong enough to overpower any plane flotilla that could be brought across either ocean by carriers or direct flight.

The plan would also provide enlargement of destroyer flotillas on both coasts to co-operate with the air force and submarines as a defence against naval attack. There is a suggestion cruisers be added to the fleets.

Coastal defence proposals also envision somewhat increased armaments along both Atlantic and Pacific shores.

As they have developed, it is believed such a defence force could repel an invasion of any enemy travelling by ocean to attack this country. Approximately $5,000,000 more will be spent on the three services this year than last. The 1935-36 estimates were $28,400,000, of which $3,317,000 was for relief camps, leaving a balance of $25,083,000 for the services and capital expenditures.

BRITAIN MAY PURCHASE PLANES FROM THE U. S.

London.—Great Britain, a reliable source said, plans to purchase United States aircraft for the Royal Air Force because domestic production has been unable to keep up with the country's rearmament program.

(Havas reported there were rumors in London the air ministry had placed orders for 300 planes with Canadian branches of United States firms. The planes would be shipped directly to England from the Dominion, it was said.)

Despite denials by the air ministry, it was reliably reported those favoring American purchases were winning out gradually against those in the ministry wishing to buy in Britain.

One unconfirmed report said 300 planes already had been ordered in the United States.

Although the British government is understood to look with favor on the latest American naval and military planes, it was asserted in aviation circles there was little likelihood Britain would be able to purchase the same types, since they are on the United States secret list.

The air ministry has not yet decided, it was reliably reported, whether to ask American manufacturers to turn out planes along lines similar to the United States army and navy machines or to follow British designs.

A London cable to the New York Times said the first orders would be for twin-engine and single-engine light bombers and were expected to go to the Martin and Curtiss-Wright companies, both of which have large plants standing idle.

Plenty Of Work

Ontario Youths Satisfied With Farm Experience In West

Goderich, Ont.—"There's plenty of work in the Canadian west for those who want to work," chorused three husky Bruce county youths, passing through here in an old motor car en route to their home near Port Elgin, Ont., after five months on the prairies.

The boys were Harold McArthur, Harold Cannon and Alvin Boettger, all in their twenties. They were in high spirits with money in their pockets.

"We went to Rimby, Alta., in May and were never idle a day until we left for home," said McArthur. "We made $1.50 a day and board for general work, and $2.50 a day and board during the threshing season. We said we were from Bruce township in Bruce county and the job was ours for the asking—just like that. And we were paid in real coin of the realm—no scrip for us."

Will Go To New York

Mounted Police To Stage Exhibition

Ride At Horse Show

New York.—A detachment of 37 Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen, led by Inspector A. T. Belcher, will arrive in New York on November 2 to present a nightly exhibition ride at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, November 4-10, it was announced.

With the exception of Staff Sergeant H. J. Soame, none of the men has been to New York before. Sergeant Soame, riding instructor of "B" division, stationed at Ottawa, from which the detachment is drawn, has been training the men for the past two months.

Training For Law

Full-Blooded Indian Expects To Be Called To The Bar

Windsor, Ont.—Branford chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire is looking after the education of a full-blooded Indian who expects to be called to the bar this year. Mrs. J. D. Detweiler, London, Ont., educational secretary, told the closing session of the annual convention of the provincial chapter of the I.O.D.E. The speaker said the Indian student had been attending Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Stalin Takes Holiday

Moscow.—Joseph Stalin, on a holiday near the Black Sea, was expected to be in Moscow for the Nov. 7 military review in Red square. Stalin is enjoying normal good health, it was stated in authoritative quarters. Reports from the United States he was planning to go to America in November for an operation were ridiculed.

W. J. BARTLETT, PUBLISHER

Blairmore, Alta., Fri., Oct. 30, 1936

"I feel certain the citizens of Alberta will soon come to the judgment that something should be done to curb the mad-dog tactics of certain financial newspapers."

"We license doctors and lawyers, school teachers and business men and automobile drivers for the protection of the public. Why should not the newspapers be licensed also? They should be required to live up to certain standards of truth with their publications."

Maclean's holds no brief whatever for any publication which deliberately distorts the truth. But Mr. Aberhart's ambition to license the press, in order that he may impose censorship upon it, is one that should not for a moment be tolerated by the people of Alberta, who are also the people of Canada.

The world has proof of what can happen in countries under dictatorships. Muzzling of the press has been the prelude to complete suppression of individual opinion, of the right to disagree. Short shifts are given in Italy and Germany to citizens who are overheard expressing any thought not to the liking of Mussolini or Hitler. Personal liberty has vanished.

Freedom of the press means more than the freedom of newspaper writers and publishers to tell what they think. It means the freedom of public thought, the right of every individual to form his own conclusions.

It has been obvious for some time that Mr. Aberhart resents criticism of any kind. Having exacted complete obedience from his followers, it appears he now desires the suppression of every newspaper in Alberta which disagrees with him.

Mr. Aberhart is not Hitler. He is not Mussolini. He is simply a Canadian citizen who was elected to an administrative office by a majority of the votes polled in a free election. He has the right to believe that Social Credit can be made to work. His right to try it has not so far been challenged under the constitution of this country.

At the next election in Alberta, if a sufficient number of people are dissatisfied with him, they can deprive him of the office he now holds. They have the right to vote against him. In the meantime, they have a right to hold opinions contrary to his and to express them.

So far as the people who do not live in Alberta are concerned, when their affairs are affected by what Mr. Aberhart does, they too have the right to express their opinion. Bondholders, for instance, are not all numbered among the millionaires. A vast number of them are people of moderate means who lent their money to Alberta under definite promise of a certain return.

They have the right to resent the sneers of Mr. Aberhart, particularly when those sneers are made from a pulpit.

Some day the citizens of Canada, which in spite of Mr. Aberhart will remain a democracy, will come to the judgment that something should be done to curb the utterances of politicians who imagine that election to office confers upon them the powers of dictatorship and the right to abuse others without retort—Maclean's.

A citizen of Bellevue recently camped on the North Fork river. During the night, in the course of a dream, his partner overheard him remark: "You dirty sucker!" The dreamer awoke to hear an owl in a tree nearby shout: "Who! Who!" Madly, he responded: "You, and I'll get you!" Jumping to his feet, he grabbed a gun and rushed out the tent door. Disappointed, he is still wondering where that mysterious voice came from.

There are many business men in this world who want what they want without paying for it. Take retailers, by way of example. All of them want new customers, but the vast majority do not want to buy them—they want them, for nothing! The big department stores spend a lot of money every year to get and hold customers. They know, out of both experience and reflection, that if they spend nothing to get customers, they don't get them. Perhaps all of us have heard men say they want to advertise, professing a belief in advertising, yet these very men won't advertise just because it would cost money to advertise.—J.G.K. in Marketing.

Local and General Items

Alberta's license plates for 1937 will appear in brighter orange with black lettering.

Nearly 200,000 lobster traps were used by Quebec fishermen last year. The traps cost about $1.00 each.

An exchange remarks: "Mrs. Palm was a patient in hospital." Well, it's a case where the woman was all Palm, anyway.

A fish in the North Fork river a few days ago was heard remark: "Gee, I'm glad I'm here. If I'd come out I would have been taxed!"

A Pincher Creek plasterer was fined $5.00 and costs for having beaten up another man. He must have just lusted that guy.

Mr. Aberhart may be able to control the press of Alberta, but he never will be able to place a muzzle on hose outside this province, who are just ready to quote Alberta.

The competition between Alberta's premier and the press of the Province goes on, with every likelihood of the premier winning the prize for aying the most.

An exchange remarks: A real hero has been discovered! Joanna Georgus Kalochristianakis, of Spokane, who did not change his name when he acquired citizenship papers.

The idea of the Printers' Code is to ensure "better printing." Well, here is no better way to ensure better printing than by giving printing offices in Alberta your fullest patronage.

Four brass bands will play in Blairmore during the musical festival, namely: Fernie City, West Canadian, Kimberley District and Calgary Premier. The band competitions will take place on the closing day, Wednesday, November 4th.

There is more joy in a printing office over one sinner that pays in advance and abuses the editor on every possible occasion than there is over ninety and nine who borrow the paper and sing its praises, without contributing one cent to keep it out of the sorbouse.

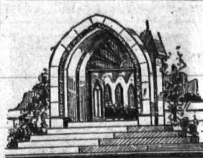

One thing, Mr. Aberhart, in all his glory, cannot stop: Maclean's Magazine of issue October 15th, 1936, carries a picture of Mr. Aberhart, and the microphone just what he proposes to do with the Alberta press. That picture is sure something to be admired by his followers in this province.

A Russian farmer told us that the government offered to let him loan himself his own money if he paid him four per cent, but the government could go to the bank and borrow some other person's money for less—so what! He may have got his figures a bit mixed, but he had the idea.

Very attractive half sheet two-color bills, announcing the twelfth annual Crow's Nest Pass Musical Festival, were executed at the job printing office of the Coleman Journal last week end. Bills, similarly attractive and in tri-color, were turned out by The Enterprise for the I.O.D.E. annual Armistice ball. For any event worth while, there isn't anything can take the place of REAL PRINTING.

Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, recently gave the Canadian club in Ottawa "an example of magnificent brevity and succinctness" in the course of a luncheon speech. Here it is: "A small girl was asked in school to write something about the prophet Elisha. Her answer was as follows: 'Elisha was a prophet who was much annoyed by rude children. He said, if you annoy me I will let loose my bear on you and he did, and it did.'"

Mr. Aberhart may not have asked co-operation of our federal government.

Efforts are being made to unseat John Gray, who has been an energetic organizer and secretary of the Drumheller constituency Social Credit Association since its inception in 1934.

Yes, sir, dere's liable to be var in Alberta. Dey talk of usin' force to squeeze money outa something or somebody fer ter help der dividend funds.

Provincial Treasurer Cockroft was definitely informed from Ottawa that the Dominion government had no power to make the requested advance to Alberta.

This is right, in Alberta, anyway. An editorial contends that a politician is at a disadvantage in talking into a " mike," instead of directly to an audience. Still, a microphone cannot throw.

The Macleod Hockey Club has re-organized for the 1936-37 season with the following officers: honorary presidents, Judge A. M. Macdonald, Mayor J. W. McDonald, James Hartley, M.L.A.; President, Harold Rubbra; vice president, Dr. W. Strome.

Among the souvenirs brought back from Europe by John Anderson is a sample of unbreakable glass manufactured from coal by-products. It can be thrown against a stone wall and not break or shatter, but is inflammable.

One should visit the ranch of P. Zoratti near the South Fork to witness just what can be accomplished on a properly conducted farm. Every acre of the large farm is in a position to produce. In addition large and most modern farm buildings have been erected and are well arranged, including modern housing for employees as well as the managerial staff. Two large barns will have accommodation for at least one hundred head of purebred stock, many of which were recently acquired, and will be added to as time goes on. A visit to the Zoratti ranch would well repay you.

Mr. Aberhart declares he has no intention of shackling the press, but only of compelling them to print the truth. And pray who is to decide what is the truth? One is a little bit suspicious that it is just the truth that the Premier of Alberta is afraid of. And one is not so sure that we want our papers to tell the truth. Imagine something like this: "Mr. Blank was buried Saturday afternoon. The minister did the best he could considering the subject, but the slim attendance testified to the fact that he will not be greatly missed." Miss Oldster looked as well as she could. The bride veil covered her grey hairs, and her wedding dress concealed her angular figure, but she was a homely old dame for all the paint and powder. The groom was appropriately dressed in black and wore a smile that will soon come off." "The new breakfast food Messrs. Blankley Blank are advertising so extensively is the same old thing done up in a new package." "Premier Aberhart addressed a political meeting at Calgary last night. He talked a lot of—" (deleted by the censor).—Tribe Weekly News.

LOW-COST ASPHALT

SURFACE WOULD REDUCE ACCIDENT HAZARD

Too many cars and too few arterial highways from urban centers is ranking as one of the main causes of accidents that turn holidays into tragedies for motorists.

Road engineers in the western provinces are concerning themselves with those cases where limited mileage by arterial highways is incapable of safely carrying excessive traffic.

Improvement of the secondary highway system with smooth low-cost asphalt surfaces, it is pointed out, would produce the safety valve for relieving this hazardous condition.

Concentration of expenditures on relatively few miles of high-cost highways has concentrated high and skimmed appropriations for this purpose, forced by the low government budgets of the past few years, have to be thinly spread over the general highway system.

Gasoline is reported about three cents cheaper in British Columbia than in Alberta, and on Sunday last a local motorist, before proceeding with his family to visit friends at Lundbreck, drove out to Natal and purchased two gallons of gas. Next? Natal is 22 miles west of Blairmore, Lundbreck, 15 miles east.

The retail set-up planned for Alberta under Social Credit is not at all unlike the system now operating in Russia. This need not damn it unmercifully, for in many ways Russia is showing its heels to the world. On the other hand, we doubt if Canadians will submit to regimentation in merchandising. They have always been able to pick and choose, and will want to thus continue. Being forced into buying Alberta made goods just because they are Alberta made, regardless of their comparative merit, will be given short shift even by the hundred percenters.—Clareholm Local Press.

Best She Ever Used For COUGHS

No wonder Mrs. Withershaw, Post Office, Ont., says Buckley's Mixture (triple action) is the best cough medicine she ever used. She writes: "Just this week my husband caught a very severe cold. I gave him two doses of Buckley's and in the morning he was so greatly improved that he was up and about his work as usual."

It is this quick, sure relief that makes BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE so reliable. Often the most stubborn, choking cough quickly yields to its powerful influence. And you save money when you buy BUCKLEY'S (triple action). You can get it everywhere.

Last week's issue of The Coleman Journal comments on the splendid concert given in Coleman by the West Canadian Bank and assisting instrumentalists and vocalists. One thing in this connection may be added: "They were not annoyed by disinterested or brainless individuals as they were in Blairmore." The Journal remarks: "Bellevue is to be commended in having such a group of musicians, whose selections were of an exceptionally good type, their playing of the well known selection 'Sons of the Sea,' and the closing selection, a spirited march, 'Quarterdeck,' being exceptionally good."

Hard to Fit?

HAVE you experienced difficulty in securing a dress to fit you properly? Do you find the dresses you order a little tight in the hips, a bit narrow across the shoulders or short in the sleeves? Do you find it hard to decide what type of foundation garment you require?

If these are your problems, then your figure probably is a little different from the average type. You are the type who should measure yourself very carefully or, better still, you should have somebody else do it for you. Never be satisfied to order the same size you had last time. Measure and make sure of the size you wear every time you order.

Why not write to EATON'S Stylist Service, enclosing your measurements, and I will be glad to advise you regarding your requirements. However, you must remember that I am not a Shopper and act solely in an advisory capacity.

NEWSPAPERS AND "LIES"

If newspapers need to be censored—which is what the "licensing" suggested means—because they tell "lies" about people, corporations and governments, then there are good and sufficient laws already on the statutes to curb them. We have laws of criminal libel, and there are laws, too, providing heavy damages against newspapers which deliberately spread false reports. Every newspaper man knows what these laws are, and is very careful to see that they are obeyed.

But outside the laws altogether, the newspaper which does not tell the truth must face its own readers. Let a paper get the reputation of being untruthful, of printing only one side of the case, and its circulation falls. Its readers punish it by refusing to read it. And without readers a newspaper soon goes bankrupt.

Truth in the news demands that both sides of the story be told. Newspapers are more concerned in telling both sides today than ever before. Of course there are people who can see only one side of any story, and the other side is merely fiction to them. To prevent the other side being told, they want licensing, which merely means censorship so that only the one side will be told.—Lethbridge Herald.

Premier Aberhart, according to press reports, refused to accept delivery of a telegram sent to him collect by the Single Unemployed Association of Calgary. The collect fee was 35c.

Cutting of interest and bond rates just caused a local man a few days ago to ask just what percentage of the Aberhart followers ever intended to meet their obligations in full?

When Social Credit dividends are issued, they can be used only for the purchase of Alberta-made goods. For instance, a man could not pass them in another province in the purchase of a wife.

A statement from Edmonton claims that followers of Premier William Aberhart, who has promised to make a gratuitous state income available to every adult citizen, are offering to donate part of their new dividends to help him pay off Alberta's big debt.

At Fernie a few days ago a party of folks were returning to their former homes in British Columbia, having got tired waiting for that great promised dividend, after residing in Alberta for close on a year. They would not be entitled to it, anyway.

We are anxiously looking forward to Mr. Aberhart's dividend issue of $25 monthly, for 20 months ago one of our long-standing subscribers at Nanton asked to have his paper discontinued until that promised dividend materialized.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Tom Bourassa has moved his family into town for the winter.

Several local citizens attended the Social Credit meeting held in Pincher Creek on Wednesday evening. They report a very large attendance, and a most interesting meeting. A banquet was held after the meeting, when Social Credit continued to spread.

Stanley Snyder and Billie Legarde have returned from a hunting trip in the mountains, each bringing home a mountain sheep.

A very successful dance, sponsored by the members of Cowley Masonic lodge, was held in the Lundbreck community hall on Friday night, and a very enjoyable time was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Sussex, of Ontario, enroute to California, where they intend making their home in future, stopped over for a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Snyder here.

After visiting at various points in British Columbia for several months, Miss Edith Murphy has returned home.

HILCREST HAPPENINGS

The junior baseball concert, held in the Union hall on Monday, was well attended. Mr. W. Stevenson was chairman. The programme opened with a piano solo by Miss Isabel Westrup. Vocal solos were rendered by Misses L. Balkwill and E. Willett, and Messrs. R. Draper, R. Rhys and W. Williams. A piano duet was given by Misses Margaret and Marion Thornton; a mandolin trio by Mark Gryschuk, Peter Fry and Bob Evans; violin selection by Lawrence Fisher; tap-dancing by Beatie Carter. Mr. Stevenson presented leather jackets to all members of the junior ball team, who are now Alberta junior champions. Receiving them were Roscoe Delini, manager; Richard D'Ercol, secretary; Albert Marcolin, captain; Sam D'Amico, William Panik, Ferguson, Grant, Steve Beranek, Johnny Morris, George Bamberg, Cello Fawcett, Francis Marconi, Kenneth Thornton, Alan Davies, Harry Draper and the mascot, Frank Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown are visiting in Coalville, while Mrs. Graham is ill in a Lethbridge hospital, having sustained injuries while using her washing machine.

Mrs. Arthur Amphet entertained a number of ladies at her home on Thursday evening last. What prizes were won by Miss L. Makin, Mrs. F. White and Mrs. D. Davies.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Jankulak returned last week from an extended visit to Europe.

Mrs. W. Makin was a Lethbridge visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Coover, of Coultas, are visiting at the home of Mrs. J. Dudley.

The Catholic ladies' whist drive was very successful. What honors went to Mrs. W. Fisher and Miss K. Kenneby.

Then, on the other hand, why go into the discredited scheme of codes and licenses. This last year we have seen imposed barbers' licenses, auto mechanics' licenses, plumbers' licenses, welders' licenses, and what not. What do these men or the public get in return for the money spent in securing licenses? Nothing so far.

Is this the way to increase the purchasing power of the people? Over at the Picture Butte sugar refinery job, for instance, the painting, or at least some of it was done at laborer's wages.

Mr. Brooker tells us that the baker's code has been little short of a farce so far. The regulations are there, but nobody lives up to them, and there is no machinery provided to make them do it. There are things in the printing industry that no code can cover. The barbers in city shops still gyp unsuspecting customers with exorbitant charges for hair dope applications. And so the vicious circle.

Codes have been discarded in the States. Why introduce a scheme in Alberta that has been proven a fail-

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

The home of Mrs. R. Jordan was the scene of a nicely arranged farewell party on Tuesday evening, when the members of Ray of Hope Rebekah Lodge gathered to bid "adieu" to one of their members in the person of Mrs. E. Litherland. The evening was spent in games and a sing-song. After the serving of a dainty luncheon, Mrs. G. W. Goodwin, on behalf of the gathering, presented the guest of honor with a beautiful handbag. Mrs. Litherland thanked her friends for their thoughtfulness. Mrs. Litherland has been a lodge member of long standing, being one of the charter members of the local lodge. In her departure the lodge is losing an efficient worker, one who was willing to help at any time. The good wishes of the lodge go with her as she takes up new residence in Calgary.

Mr. Muller, minister of the Baptist church, returned from a two weeks' vacation, bringing with him his bride.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dowson were week end visitors to Lethbridge.

Mrs. Upton, June and Mavis, returned over the week end from a few days' visit to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Green returned Saturday night from a six months' visit to the British Isles.

Miss Isabel McAndrew is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Goodwin. The high school students held a very successful dance in the I.O.O.F. hall on Friday evening. The music was supplied by the Arcadians.

Mr. J. Paul was admitted to the local hospital on Saturday, where he underwent an operation. At last report, Mr. Paul was doing nicely.

C. W. Ray was a Calgary visitor during the week, attending a convention of dry cleaners.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Shevels were week end visitors to Calgary.

Rev. R. Upton returned Monday night from a three months' visit to England.

Frank Galvon, a local miner, recently experienced a rather slippery trail in the timber country south of Blairmore. Armed with a rifle though too small for the job, Frank was in close range of a brown or grizzly bear. Mr. Bear spent a whole lot of time sniffing and snorting and grunting, sufficient to warn the average human that something was didn't or was in store. Frank, however, retained his pose in a crouch of rock, and permitted him Bruin to walk on to a safe distance without firing a shot. He and his partner still hope to land that trophy.

The cartoonist for the Toronto Telegram has sized up the Dominion Government's attitude toward the Alberta Government's Social Credit scheme. He showed Prime Minister Mackenzie King as the Foxxy Grandeur, standing in the picture and Premier Aberhart leaning over holding the Social Credit egg. But Mackenzie King was not being tempted to give William Aberhart a shove and thus break the Social Credit egg, and be blamed for breaking the egg. A case of "Hands Off the Alberta Social Credit Egg." A clever cartoon to say the least.—Drumheller Review.

Seen and heard around Fernie: that the city band, under the direction of bandmaster Francois Vernon, are putting in some strenuous practices preparatory to participating in the Musical Festival and band contests at Blairmore; Tom Uphill, M.P.P., left Wednesday for Victoria to attend the legislature opening on the 27th; the Fernie band rustling funds to finance their trip to Blairmore for the Festival. The band is making steady progress and will make a good showing in the competition; the marriage of Miss Alice Puckey to Mr. E. Taylor, of Victoria, took place on Monday; the Fernie Choral Club will go to Blairmore for the Musical Festival. ## RIGHT TO CHOOSE

Canada's Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, represented the Dominion at the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva last month. He emphasized the importance of Canada's parliament or people having the right to determine whether or not they will participate in any future wars in which other nations might be involved.

This is advocated by other Dominions in the Empire of Free Nations also and this Oldest Colony and Youngest Dominion of Newfoundland ought to have the same privilege of deciding through its people—as we have no parliament as have Canada and others.

Many people express themselves, and not unreasonably, that coming to the aid of the Mother Country in her defense of an aggressor in time of war is far different from participating in a war of assistance to another nation simply because any British Government may have by treaty an obligation binding it to take up arms.

In the present state of militarism it may be very easy to be drawn into the vortex of a war. People generally, it is said, in every country, are opposed to warfare, but the military machine in every nation under dictatorship may be set going to get power over smaller states, or for the making of colonies to widen their empire in lands owned by some of the bigger powers.

What the League is said to be considering is whether it will be advisable to grant territory to over populated countries without letting them be taken by force. Perhaps Germany's desire for territory will only be appeased when her lost colonies are restored, but it is thought best to allow the people to vote for what they think best for themselves. That would in some cases make the Versailles Treaty of less value than it had already become when it was repudiated several times by Germany in the past. —Newfoundland Twillingate Sun.

Indian League Of Nations

Tribes Would Unite In Fealty To The British Crown

An Indian League of Nations, united in common welfare and fealty to the British crown, was advocated at North Battleford, Sask., during an Indian assembly prior to departure of the Metiwans band for the jubilee celebration of the signing of Treaty No. 6 at Carlton, Sask., 60 years ago. Carlton is 60 miles north of Saskatoon.

The league discussion took place at a three-day convention. It would embrace Redmen of every tribe and race from the Atlantic to the Pacific over its network of reserves.

Chiefs and councillors attended from the Manitoba boundary to the foothills of the Rockies and north to the Churchill river. Chief Joe Dreaver of the Metiwans was a leading speaker. Canon Edward Ahenakew, president of the League of Indians, was chairman.

They endorsed resolutions concerning safeguarding of rights conferred on them by the 1876 treaty. Tribesmen were outspoken in their desire for official recognition of their organization. Chief Dreaver thought mutual recognition of the major difficulties by Indians and departmental officials would go a long way toward a solution.

"Let us not meet the representatives of the Great White Chief with hard feeling in our hearts," said Chief Dreaver prior to the tribe's departure for the Carlton celebration. "Let us rather show we feel our advancement has been slow, desiring their co-operation so that the Indian feel may walk more easily along the thorny paths of civilization."

For Canadian Writers

Short Story Contest For British Empire Authors Only

Opportunity for Canadian writers to win three cash prizes is afforded by the announcement of a short story contest for British Empire authors only.

The contest is being conducted by the well-known and established American firm of literary agents, Paul R. Reynolds and Son acting through their London correspondent, John Farquharson. The prizes are £125 (or its approximate equivalent of $925) for first, £75 (or its approximate equivalent of $575) for second and £50 (or its approximate equivalent of $375) for third.

If the winning stories earn more than the amount of the prize from sale of world rights, such further earnings will be paid to the author after deducting the usual agent's commission, the sponsors state.

Also any story which does not win a prize but which attains the standard of American and British magazines will be offered for sale, it is added.

No manuscripts of over 10,000 words will be considered, the agents further declare, and prizes will probably be awarded to stories of between 3,500 and 4,000 words.

The competition closes December 31, 1938. Manuscripts must be addressed to Paul R. Reynolds and Son, care of John Farquharson, 8, Halsey House, Red Lion Square, London, W.C.1, England.

Mysterious Bottle Note

May Solve Disappearance Of Ill-Fated Airship

A two-line message, scrawled on a scrap of paper and decipherable only by means of infra-red photography, may hold the clue to the mystery of the ill-fated air liner Southern Cloud. Five years after the disaster to the plane, which disappeared with two pilots and six passengers on a flight from Sydney to Melbourne, a bottle has been found on the north coast of New South Wales, containing a fragment of paper inscribed with faded letters.

It was discovered by Maurice Smith, buried in the mud on the bank of the Waluma River, about 20 miles from its estuary.

The paper inside was little but fluff and fragments, but by the aid of infra-red photography the words "South Tasmanna" were deciphered on one side of the piece of paper, and "Southern Cloud crossed island 30 miles" on the reverse.

The handwriting has been submitted to Dr. C. A. Monticome, a handwriting expert, for comparison with the notebooks of the late Pilot Charles Duncun, who was assistant pilot on the Southern Cloud.

Monticome reports that he has noted several points of resemblance between Pilot Duncun's writing and the writing on the scrap of paper. Efforts will be made to have the paper photographed through special chemical screens, with the object of bringing out the writing more clearly.

Italian Rule In Ethiopia

Red Cross Doctor Says It Is Better Than Chaos And Anarchy

Dr. Thomas A. Lamie, formerly of Toronto and commander of the Ethiopian Red Cross during the Italian invasion, said in New York that "nobody is going to give Ethiopia back to Emperor Haile Selassie." "Ethiopia is still far from being occupied," he said, "but every true friend of Ethiopia believes Italian occupation is far better than the dreadful condition of chaos and anarchy that now prevails, where life is of no value and even women and children are not spared by bands of looters and murderers."

Great Gold Stores

Legend Of The Tropical Valley In Far North Remains Unsolved

The legend of fabulous gold in the wild Nahanni country, 300 miles west of Fort Simpson and more than 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton, remains unsolved.

Ever since the turn of the century prospectors have sought the great gold stores of the "tropical valley" in the Nahanni region. Five violent deaths, all unsolved, are laid to the curse of the country. Scores of prospectors have sought the wealth and all have returned without fortunes.

Word came through that the latest search for the source of legendary wealth had failed. Pool Field, veteran northland trader, prospector and trapper, and his partner, J. H. Mulholland, blamed the failure of their expedition on superstitious Indians too afraid to carry on the search.

Last July Field and Mulholland organized the expedition and with 30 Indians started into the area to pan for gold and seek the "lost" mine. The Indians believe the legend that death awaits prospectors entering the region. They went so far into the area—then quit cold and the expedition failed.

The Harmon Trophy

Presented To Father Of The Late Capt. Stevenson Of Winnipeg

The Harmon trophy, awarded posthumously to the late Captain Frederick Stevenson of Winnipeg, was in possession of the aviator's parents, nearly 10 years after the flyer was killed in a plane crash near The Pas, Man.

The bronze medal, awarded by the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs of Paris on behalf of the donor, Clifford B. Harmon, was presented to the flyer's father, Joseph Stevenson, by Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Tupper. The medal had been mislaid several years ago.

Captain Stevenson was the first Canadian to receive the award, recognizing his successful transportation of heavy freight by air into otherwise inaccessible areas of the Canadian northland. His work was described as playing an important part in hastening development of northern mineral areas.

End Of Leap Year

Large Number Of People In Favor Of Calendar Reform

It is very possible that February, 1938, will be the last one to have 29 days. Not that February is going to be deprived of this extra day; on the contrary it is probable that it will be given the same right as the other months to have 30 days.

This is the suggestion of a large group of people who are in favor of a revision of the calendar.

It is probable that the League of Nations will call a conference this year to consider the matter. If the change takes place, February will have 30 days every year. Each sixth year there will be an extra day, but that will fall at the end of June. Another suggestion is that his odd day might be made into an extra holiday between December 31 and New Year's Day.—Journal of Calendar Reform, New York.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 1

LAW, LOVE, AND TEMPERANCE

Golden text: It is good not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth. Romans 14:21.

Lesson: Romans 13:1-14. Devotional reading: Romans 14, 13:21.

Explanations And Comments

Obey the Law, Romans 13:1-7. "Every subject must obey the government authorities, for no authority exists apart from God; the existing authorities have been constituted by God. Hence anyone who resists authority is opposing the divine order, and the opposition will bring judgment on themselves. Magistrates are no terror to an honest man, though they are to a bad man. If you want to avoid being alarmed, the government authorities, lead an honest life and you will be commended for it; the magistrate is God's servant for your benefit. But if you do wrong, you may well be alarmed: a magistrate does not wield the power of the sword for nothing, he is God's servant for the infliction of divine vengeance upon evil-doers. You must be obedient, therefore, not only to avoid the divine vengeance but as a matter of conscience, for the same reason as you pay taxes—since magistrates are God's officers, bent upon the maintenance of order and authority. Pay them all their respective dues, tribute to one, taxes to another, to this man, honor to that." (Moffatt's translation).

Love Fulfills the Law, Romans 13:8-10. When Jesus was asked to name the greatest law of all, he answered, "Love." He taught that when one loves he needs no other law. As Luther trenchantly said, "The law discovers the disease; the gospel gives the remedy."

Owe no man anything, save to love one another, for he that loveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law. Temperance, Rom. 13:11-14. Paul is still looking for the return to earth of his Lord and the special appeal of the last four verses of our text is based upon the expectation that the return will take place at almost any time. That expected return did not take place in Paul's day, and here and there some have been looking for it and expecting it in all the centuries that have followed, until now the majority of Christians have ceased to look for it. But in a sense, Paul's line of argument is still effective. Time hurrying on and life is short, and for the Christian clean, wholesome, honest living is the only thing in order. There is a Christian standard of conduct, which shuts out all self-indulgence and ill-will and self-seeking. A Christian's conduct should be above reproach.

Paper Changes Ownership

Toronto Globe, Founded In Pre-Confederation Days, Passes Into New Hands

Ownership control of the Toronto Globe, metropolitan daily founded in the pre-Confederation days of Canada's history, has passed into the hands of C. George McCullagh and William Henry Wright.

William Gladstone Jaffray, president and publisher of the 92-year-old newspaper since 1914, announced that he had relinquished his interest and connection with the morning paper and that 60 per cent. of the shares of the company have been purchased by the new owners. The amount involved was not disclosed.

The Globe now carries in its masthead the name of Mr. McCullagh, who, at the age of 31, becomes the fifth president and publisher of the paper. He thus becomes head of the newspaper which 20 years ago he hawked on London streets.

The new president, in assuming control, announced that the historic traditions of the paper will be continued; that politically it would be Independent-Liberal.

Train Despatching By Phone

Is Superseding Telegraph For Transmission Of Messages

The telephone gradually is supplanting the telegraph in train despatching, according to reports made to the telegraph and telephone section of the Association of American Railroads.

"The telephone," said a statement issued by the association, "on Jan. 1, 1938, was being used in the transmission of train orders over 148,799 miles of road, or 65.33 per cent., while the telegraph was being utilized only over 92,466 miles.

"This is a material change from conditions prevailing in 1920, when the telegraph was being used over 119,554 miles of road, or 48.5 per cent., while the telegraph was used over 134,667 miles.

"Particularly has the telephone proved its superiority in emergencies in train operations. By using a way station or portable telephone the engineer or conductor can communicate directly with the train dispatcher or division superintendent, thus giving him more first-hand information in less time than with the telegraph."

No Christmas Broadcast

The King May Deliver Empire-Wide Address On Coronation Day

The king has decided not to deliver an annual Christmas broadcast to the empire. Through his secretary, His Majesty made known that he does not intend to follow his father's custom. The king may, however, broadcast an empire-wide address on coronation day next year.

An Expensive Stamp

Europe's most expensive stamp, called "the yellow three shilling," went on exhibition at the fifth anniversary celebration of the Swedish Philatelist Society. It cost its owner, J. Ramberg, Gothenburg, $10,000.

Thou Shalt Not Love

A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

"You can!" His eyes blazed with black rage. In that moment she was all fighting spirit. She struck him stinging across his hard young face.

Then they were standing there, their bodies tense with anger. Scant inches between them, and their faces glared at each other, like two who have begun a feud to the death. The marks of the girl's fingers showed white against the man's tanned cheeks.

The thin hard line of his jaw marked his determination. He meant to win. He said, still in that harsh voice:

"I won't let you back out now! You've started this thing and you've got to go through with it. Do you suppose I'm going to allow you to make a fool of me before everybody?"

Starr's throat was aching and tight. By "everybody" he meant Stephanie, of course. The little asphyxiated blond was all he cared about. This whole mad farce was being played for her—for Stephanie who had twice cruelly insulted Starr!

He burst at her bitterly: "You don't care what you do to a woman, do you? You don't care if the whole world thinks she's—she's— Oh, you know what they think!"

His lips curved contemptuously. "Getting rather particular all of a sudden, aren't you? It occurs to me you may not always have been so careful of your spotless reputation." He laughed, with no trace of humor. "And you! I thought you wanted to play?"

"You said so. I've raised you from obscurity and given you a chance a million other girls might have jumped at. I've given you power—I'll know how to use it!"

A curious feeling swept through Starr. This was true. He had given her power, of a sort. But she was letting it slip away from her because of forbidden emotions. If she could only really be the hard, scintillating alien he wanted her to be!

A little while ago she had likened herself to a puppet dancing on the end of a string. It struck her now she could turn the tables if she chose.

She could be the one handling the strings. She could make all these people dance for her; Stephanie, Lance, yes, even the arrogant Michael. Especially Michael!

A savage joy shook her at the thought of making things even with Michael. In that moment, how she hated him! A wild, primitive passion of hate that would have done credit to the daughters of the desert, of whom she was synthetically one, surged through her slight body.

Her smile flashed into his angry eyes. The mocking, painted smile that was essentially the trademark of the notorious "Play-Girl," the supposedly part-Egyptian whose heritage it was to lure.

"All right, Michael-Hassan, I'll go through with it," she said coolly. Perhaps when I finished you'll be sorry that you asked me!" Starr Ellison did not leave her debut party as Lance Marlowe had thought perhaps might be her intention. Instead, she burst on the throng gathered to her a curious sort of homage with new energy and vim. There was no reason for anybody to pull the strings. Starr danced. She could not keep still. Her flying feet played all over the great ballroom and she was the centre of every group where there was any particular excitement.

It was while the merriment was at its height, and the blasé newsmen who had dropped in were being surprised that it was not "just another party thrown for a world-celebrity" that she sang for them all. A song of Araby, a desert song of the variety none of them had ever heard. One of the constant sources of opinion was that it must be "one of those tribal songs that had come down through the centuries, my dear."

She sang it to her own accompaniment, playing the harp when she pre-empted it from its owner in the orchestra. Michael's eyes widened when he saw her. That girl was a continual surprise. Where had she ever learned all the things she knew? He was beginning to wonder about her a little, in spite of having told her he had no interest in her save from the moment of meeting her.

The song she sang "made" the papers the next day, along with an account of the debut party of "Play-Girl."

THE LOVE OF WOMEN IS LIKE A DATE THAT IS GOLDEN IN THE SUN.

That is golden—

The love of women is like a gazelle that comes to drink—

To drink at the water springs—

The love of women is like the nag—

hale, and the dust of the keef

That is mingled with tobacco and honey—

Put the reed between thy lips, O loving man!

And draw dreams from the hashish that is the love of women!

The next day, New York was undetermined whether to play up the line, "O loving man!" or "the hashish that is the love of women."

CHAPTER VIII.

Michael Fairbourne stood alone at one end of a long, luxurious room, twirling a tiny glass absently in his strong fingers.

It was the hour which once was the tea hour, but which long since has been subtly transformed into the cocktail hour, first by Manhattan's smart younger set, then by the consensus of popular agreement everywhere.

A Japanese butler passed lightly with his filled tray among the laughing groups clustered around couches or in little huddles around fireplace or piano, according to notion. In front of a buffet, two or three who fancied their own mixing were giving exhibitions of their prowess with the shaker. Some one's fingers ran lightly over the keyboard in an improvised melody of popular tunes.

Old by now, but they seemed to like it in lieu of a newer lilt to take the public fancy. A second butler was as busy with his tray of little sandwiches, caviar and foie gras tidbits as the drink server. A typical Manhattan cocktail hour scene.

This particular scene had as its background Lance Marlowe's penthouse apartment, although it might have been the apartment of almost any of the dozen or more men present, so familiar was the gay setting. Stephanie Dale was not there. Stephanie had remarked quite definitely:

"I simply refuse to go anywhere where that 'Play-Girl' creature is to be the guest of honor, and that's emphatic. It nauseates me to see all the men swarming around her like moths. If that's the lure of Egypt! Really, sometimes when I see those long eyes of hers that they're all so fond of calling 'mysterious,' I can't help wondering if she's quite white. Are Egyptians white people? And as for the rest of it... Well, you can't expect me, Mike, to play second fiddle to a—"

It was rather horrible hearing such a name as Stephanie's pretty lips. Michael was surprised afterward at the swiftness with which he turned to scold her. He did not quite understand his own reaction, whether his resentment was for Starr, or against Stephanie's use of English that could be more expected in the pages of a Daniel Hannet story. Stephanie had been as plain as that.

After all, who was he to say whether Stephanie was right or wrong. He certainly had had ideas of his own on first knowing Starr Ellison. At first he had been so sure...

More recently he had regretted his blunt pronouncement to her that he wanted to know nothing of her past life, that she was beginning to live, as far as he was concerned, on the night he first met her at La Luna. There might have been a reason, at that... And Starr had been so difficult. Once she had appeared to want to tell him all about herself, but he had discouraged her. Now, when he tried to get anything out of her at all, all he did get was that slow smile of hers, the flicker of her long lashes, the enigmatic look, and her reminder:

"I forgot, Hassan. You told me to you know... And you haven't forgotten? I'm from the desert, you know, and in the desert one forgets everything, one remembers nothing any more."

"Teasing him, of course, but he was beginning to wish he did know more about this girl who looked so like an Egyptian princess that she fitted inevitably into the setting of her own apartment he had furnished her, and set was so ultra-modern—so American... Who was she, anyway? What?"

Many people were asking that—especially as touched upon her relationship with Lance Marlowe. There were many who chose to believe she was Lance's mistress. She went around with him with a blatant disregard for gossip; seemed to glory in it.

There were times, when she was off guard for a moment or two, that an almost childlike wistfulness haunted her great, dark eyes. At such times Michael would have staked his life that she was the purest soul on earth, completely routing all his preconceived ideas of her. He would not have told for the life of him.

But there were other times when the age-old allure of the siren flouted him in every use of her eyes and body. At such moments Michael could have believed anything of her. And did.

First Railway Saleswoman

Was Hired To Tell Men What The Women Want

First railway saleswoman in the United Kingdom, Miss Audrey Shirliff, a young Chelsea girl, was appointed because "nobody but a woman knows what women really want," according to an official of the Great Western.

Miss Shirliff, an attractive brunette, will travel all over the Great Western Railway system interviewing the corners of a dead 19-year-old and social organizations, women's clubs, girls' schools and factories, offering them outings. Most of them will want to come to London, Miss Shirliff says. By far the largest proportion of women's parties are to London, where they aim to see the shop, Buckingham Palace and the other royal residences.

Restores Sight

Professor Franceschini, noted Italian surgeon, successfully transplanted the cornea of a dead 19-year-old girl to the eyes of a blind man in one of the most delicate operations known to the medical science. The man's sight has been fully restored.

Not being so efficient in cold weather, razors are said to stop better if dipped first in boiling water when the temperature is low.

One of these days, a trans-Atlantic liner will descend and reach the ultimate in fame by going over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Passes Up Fortune

Valuable Sealskins Found Floating In Ice Field Region

Thousands of dollars worth of sealskins, floating in the icefield region of the St. Lawrence, were left drifting by the skipper of a passenger vessel because schedules had to be maintained, and the skipper could not take advantage of what represented a tidy sum in salvage. It is reported at Quebec.

Captain E. J. Rodgers, now in charge of the Albatross, tells the tale. "It was a brilliantly bright day with a blinding sun shining down on the scattered ice-fields, causing them to sparkle and shine like diamonds under an arc lamp. A light haze hung over the entire scene, and the rays of the sun picked out two bergs in the distance, causing them to stand out like beacons."

They were steaming along through the ice-fields when we suddenly saw, on a large cake of ice on our port bow, a huge pile of sealskins surrounded by a stick from which flew a white flag. There must have been at least 8,000 or 9,000 skins in the pile, representing a large sum of money. We felt a strong inclination to send out a boat and to take them aboard, as the salvage money would have amounted to a tidy sum. But we were on a passenger ship, not a pleasure yacht, so we were obliged to keep on going and pass up a good opportunity.

"We proceeded along for some distance when, to our surprise, another cake of ice appeared on the starboard side, with an almost identical pile of sealskins and also topped by a stick bearing a flag. Once more we were obliged to pass by."

"It is believed the skins were collected by Eskimo hunters who were on the ice when it had to flee when the ice broke away, while the fruits of their labors were carried away through the ice track, to finally go to the bottom as the ice disintegrated, unless they were found by other hunters and taken into shore."

Immigrants in Canada

British Educationist Says English People Here Better Off

Immigrant boys are better off situated in under-populated Canada, Dr. G. F. Morton, leading British educationist, has found in a survey of conditions in this country. The headmaster of Leeds Modern, one of the early English Victorian institutions near the city of Leeds, advocates immigration to relieve the pressure of over-population in Europe.

Dr. Morton has completed a tour of Canada where he met, in various cities and on farms, old boys from his school's alumni who left England between the years 1924 to 1929 for the colonies. He will visit Australia before returning home.

"I have always urged those who are adventurous to emigrate from the old land. Now I am seeking to determine how they are making out—comparing their standard of living with that in England."

"I find nearly all the boys are better off in Canada than they would be at home and I will continue to urge the present pupils of the school to try their lives in the dominions," he said.

Frenchman Writes Small

Maurice Kerchanat, a Paris watchmaker, has inscribed an entire book on the back of a picture postcard. "The Story of Joan of Arc" by Paul Corbani, contains 11,198 words.

Teacher: "Define advertising." Student: "Advertising is the presentation of a pretty girl holding, sitting, or standing by an object somebody wants to induce the public to buy."

It takes a whole month's drawings by twenty men to produce a one-reel animated cartoon.

Little Helps For This Week

When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee; and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. Isaiah 43:2.

When through the deep waters I call thee to go, The rivers of sorrow shall not overflow; For with me will be thee, thy troubles to bless, And sanctify to thee thy deepest distress.

Turn as you will, you must give yourself to suffer whatever is appointed for you. If we do that God will bear us up at all times in all our sorrows and troubles, and will lay His shoulder under our burdens and help us bear them. For, if with a cheerful courage we submit ourselves to Him, no suffering would be unbearable. Make up your mind to the prospect of having a certain measure of pain and trouble in your passage through life, and by the blessing of God you will be prepared for it. This will make you resigned without interfering with your cheerfulness.

Marine Construction

Ship Building At High Level In Britain And Ireland

Merchant marine construction in Great Britain and Ireland was at a higher level at the end of September than at any time since September, 1930, according to figures released by Lloyd's.

Tonnage under construction during the quarter ending Sept. 30 totalled 928,571, an increase of 79,839 tons over the preceding quarter. Of this 598,715 tons over the figure for September 30, 1935.

Marine construction abroad was given as 1,182,860 tons, which represents an increase of 80,600 tons over the total at the end of June this year. Various countries were listed as follows: Germany, 424,264; Japan, 175,801; United States, 90,960; Denmark, 82,015; Holland, 140,475; Sweden, 111,860.

The total for the whole world during the quarter was 2,111,437, of which Great Britain and Ireland accounted for 44 per cent. and the rest of the world 56 per cent.

No Change In Oath

Will Not Alter Religious Part Of Coronation Of The King

Prime Minister Baldwin has assured the Protestant society there is no proposal to alter the religious part of the coronation oath relating to the Church of England and the Protestant reformed religion.

The fact is that it could not be changed without an act of parliament. It has been altered since 1688 only to allow for the union with Scotland and the disestablishment of the Irish church.

Any fresh change will only be made to provide for the new status of the Dominions under the statute of Westminster, a matter entirely apart from the question of reformed religion.

Emperor Hirohito will be represented at the coronation of King Edward VIII. by Prince and Princess Chichibu, who will sail for London in the spring.
